Edmonton.

Dear Mom & Dad,

You're probably surprised to get a letter from me but I told Carolyn as she left this morning that I would write. She was planning to write last night, but someone asked us over after church and we didn't get back until after 11 P.M. Carolyn said that she was going to write later during the week - so you can expect another letter soon.

We've both been feeling very well lately - many people remark to Carolyn that she always looks so good and healthy - and she does too. She plans to teach 10 days yet, unless, of course, she feels that she shouldn't, in that event she would stop teaching sooner. It's nice to know that there is a stand-by teacher available.

I've decided to keep looking for a job until Wed, and if nothing is discovered by then I expect to begin working at McKinnis on Thursday. I could have received a job this morning, but it would take me out of Edmonton so I had to say no. But something might turn up in the next few days.

Recently it has been quite cold here - even a few snow flurries this morning, so you are probably enjoying much finer weather in Grand Rapids.

But the weather should soon turn warmer here too, as now it is unseasonably ~~so~~ cold.

Are you quite busy in the battery? I suppose that it won't be long now until you move into the new building. Do you know at all what is going to take over in the building in which you are now in? How about the new house? Carolyn's always worried that if you build a new house you won't put a room extra in for us as guests, but I keep telling her that you will.

Well - I am going uptown now, so will also mail this then -

Love
Andrew & Carolyn

P.S. Don't tell Carolyn how short this letter is!
